"Law is an ever growing discipline and it has inter-related with every discipline of learning. We propose to explore new horizons of learning by associating legal education with its closely allied disciplines. The blending of law and management is very relevant and much needed in the contemporary era. With the globalization of the economy and the growth of international trade and business, the law has also assumed new roles and responsibilities. The financial markets and institutions have assumed the global role and have begun to transact across the borders which has created new opportunities, new challenges, especially in the field of taxation, international trade and commerce. This MBA Programme is an attempt to to spread quality education integrating the disciplines of management, taxation, corporate business, banking, international trade and law. I am sure the proposed endeavor will be welcomed by academia and industry."
