Learned counsel Shri Ashish Davessar has been heard through video call. Quoting some incidents of atrocities, it has been submitted by learned counsel that while enforcing locking down, the general masses are being maltreated and beaten, despite complaints to the authorities, no remedial steps have been taken, so the respondents be directed that in event, if the lawful authority is not being obeyed, then legal recourse be taken against the law and rule breakers and they be not beaten and the errants be deterred from perpetrating such brutality, since we are fighting against the virus and not against the masses.

Obviously, while fighting with the outbreak of calamity, no harm is to be caused to the public, rather transgression of law needs to be taken care of in accordance with law.

We, have come across several news items, which demonstrate that exemplary positive work is being done by the police authorities nevertheless the respondents are needed to be afforded opportunity to reply as to what steps and action has been taken to safeguard the citizens and to ensure that no unlawful manhandling, canning and spanking, which is not permissible under law is perpetrated.

Let notices be issued to the respondent/s, to file their reply.

List the matter on 07.04.2020, matter be taken up at 11.00 AM.
