CALL FOR RESEARCH PAPERS

About the Conference

A Unique First International Conference "Sports Law and Sportsmanship" will be held in the month of September 2025 in SRMIST. It is a forum for the Players, Coaches, Physical Education Students, Research Scholars, Law Students, Legal Professionals and General Public to know about the rules, regulations, and laws to protect the rights of the players during their play and after the play. The National and International delegates will show their experience, new innovation ideas, and latest research and developments in the newly constructed law in different sports and countries. This conference will have expert talks, panel discussions, and paper presentations. The future of the players and their rights will be given a new dimension during this unique International conference, "Sports Law and Sportsmanship".

Background and Rationale

Sport in the 21st century is no longer limited to physical competition alone - it is shaped by global regulations, legal complexities, technological advancement, and rigorous scientific research. With increasing commercialization, media exposure, and athlete activism, the intersection of law and science has become critical to the sustainable development of global sports.

To address these evolving dimensions, the SRM School of Law, in collaboration with the Directorate of Sports SRMIST, Kattankulathur, is organizing an International Conference titled Lex Sport 2025: Rules and Records. The conference aims to create a collaborative platform where experts from across disciplines and borders can examine the legal frameworks and scientific innovations that govern, protect, and enhance the world of sport.

Objectives

- To explore contemporary international issues in sports law and sports science.
- To facilitate interdisciplinary dialogue between legal experts, scientists, coaches, athletes, and administrators.
- To examine how law and science contribute to athlete welfare, performance optimization, and governance reform.
- To promote international research collaboration and exchange of best practices.
- To offer policy recommendations and innovations for a more ethical, inclusive, and efficient sporting ecosystem.
